

ISWFACE Presents:

Unless you believe that SOME forms of 'human trafficking' are acceptable:

"END THE DEMAND"

For ALL types of labor and relationships into which persons may be forced...
If it saves even one person from becoming a victim, isn't it worth it?

Sex Workers Around the World Agree:
If the "End the Demand" policy is as effective in stopping 'sex trafficking' as the prostitution abolitionists claim, then shouldn't it be used to end ALL forms of HUMAN TRAFFICKING and modern day slavery???

If it saves even one person from becoming a victim, isn't it worth it?

Governments favoring one type of human trafficking victim over another is discrimination.

Discrimination against the majority of human trafficking victims is unacceptable!

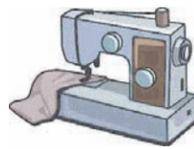

ALL victims of human trafficking have a right to be 'rescued' from the work they are forced to do out of economic necessity... and helped to realize they are victims even if they say they are not!

Here is how we can end ALL human trafficking and exploitation:

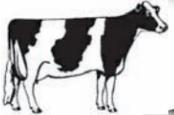

End the demand for fish caught by fishermen- if you want fish for dinner, go out and catch one yourself!

End the demand for store bought clothes!
Ban garment manufacturing!
If you want the latest in fashion, sew it yourself.
Making your own clothes will prevent young girls from being forced into sweatshops!

End the demand for ALL store bought foods including milk, vegetables, fruits, and other products that allow the exploitation of farm laborers.
Want fresh vegetables? Grow them yourself!
Want milk? Get your own cow!

"End the Demand" ... because the government believes that the best way to help women 'without other options' who engage in sex work to feed their families is to arrest them and force them to acknowledge that they are victims (or they go to jail)!

Or arrest anyone who hires them to do erotic labor which they rely on to pay their rent (the 'Swedish model')!

If it stops sex trafficking, shouldn't we "End the Demand" for ANY labor where there are victims of human trafficking?

Would you want YOUR wife or daughter to clean toilets or scrub floors even if they had no other options?

End the demand for eating out- ban restaurants to prevent uneducated workers with no skills or other options from being forced into this type of demeaning labor!

No one would "CHOOSE" to clean toilets for a living! Especially when such degrading menial labor jobs pay minimum wage OR LESS!
End the demand for domestic servitude- ban housekeeping services!

Wherever you go- at home, or at work or traveling- clean up after yourself! Expecting other people to clean up after you- for SLAVE wages - is just wrong!

Why don't we send cops to arrest/ rescue ALL victims of human trafficking, not just 'sex trafficking' victims?

End the demand for child brides!
Ban marriage to keep young girls from being forced to marry dirty old men!
