Memphis, Tennessee Police Officer Sentenced for Transgender Beating, Tax Evasion

Memphis Police Officer Bridges McRae

Memphis, Tennessee

Former Memphis Police officer Bridges McRae was sentenced to two years in prison for tax evasion and violating the rights of transgendered woman Duana Johnson. McRae will also serve two years supervised release and a $200 fine.

McRae admitted to unjustifiably striking Johnson, who was cuffed, several times in the face while waiting to be booked on prostitution charges at the Criminal Justice Complex.

This is the part that really caught my eye. Notice the method he used to avoid paying taxes.

McRae also admitted that from 2004 to 2008 he evaded his federal income taxes by providing the City of Memphis a W-4 form that claimed he had 99 dependants.
