So, we agree that it is nothing more than a revolving door - with murderers and rapists and pedophiles freely walking among us. How about the latest news about the released rapist in Ohio? Six bodies found in his home.

Sowell was released from prison in June 2005 after being convicted of rape in 1989.

I truly believe that it is time (waaaay past time), to hold parole boards, judges and even the state that these people are released from, ACCOUNTABLE for the actions of the released, convicted criminals - enough is enough. 6 people dead since this creep got out in 2005 - needless deaths.

I know someone who sued a state on the west coast for something that happened to them, due to the release of a very dangerous person - they won.....they won millions. But, the millions can never, ever restore what was lost to this person. Point is, it should never have happened, because the person who committed the violent acts, had been in and out of the criminal justice system since he was a child. I feel that the parole boards and judges have just as much blood on their hands for releasing these animals, as the criminal themselves, shoot these animals and get it over with and protect the rest of us.

If only "life without parole" actually meant "life without parole". A sentence like that has become a joke. If an inmate keeps their nose clean, says all the right things and does all the right things, it seems that some parole boards just can't wait to let them out to walk our streets again. 1. Is life without the possibility of parole more or less desirable than death?
