CLARK COUNTY, Ind. -- New developments were revealed Wednesday in the case against a former southern Indiana sheriff facing criminal charges.

Former Harrison County Sheriff Mike Deatrick is facing 12 criminal charges, including 10 felonies.

Deatrick was set to stand trial next week in Clark County after a change of venue request was granted earlier this year.

said in 2007, Deatrick was armed with a deadly weapon when he caused two women working as dispatchers in the county to submit to deviate sexual conduct.

His charges include criminal deviate sexual conduct, sexual battery, intimidation and insurance fraud.

In court this morning, WLKY learned ongoing plea negotiations between Deatrick and prosecutors have resulted in a deal now filed with the court.

The judge hasn't ruled whether to accept the deal.

"It's really the end of the road for this matter. Hopefully they can move on from this matter and move on with their lives," said attorney Charles Miller, who represented dispatchers Deanna Decker and Melissa Graham in a sexual harassment lawsuit against Deatrick.

The dispatchers were awarded about $375,000 as part of a settlement.

Miller said the women are pleased with the deal.

"I think the plea agreement will dispel any doubts anyone has about the truthfulness anyone has about the allegations that Ms. Graham and Ms. Decker made against former Sheriff Deatrick," Miller said.

The ruling is expected to come Monday morning.

Deatrick and his attorney left without commenting.

A special prosecutor appointed to the case said she wouldn't comment or talk about the terms of the plea until the judge approves the settlement.
