PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. — A state trooper charged with two counts of rape plead not guilty in court on Monday.

State police say 32-year-old Trooper Trevor Donah of Plattsburgh was arrested around 4 p.m. Tuesday while off duty and charged with two counts of first-degree rape. Police say the victims were two female acquaintances.

In court, Franklin County District Attorney Derek Champagne alleged Donah could be facing additional charges, alluding to a third victim.

NY STATE TROOPER IN PLATTSBURGH CHARGED IN 2 RAPES

Authorities say a state trooper assigned to a station in northern New York has been charged with raping two women.

Donah is being held on $50,000 cash or $100,000 bond. Donah is required to wear a GPS tracking device if he makes bail.

Donah was arraigned last week but did not have a lawyer present so he was re-arraigned today.

We'll have more on this story tonight on NewsChannel 5.

INVESTIGATORS ACROSS THE NORTH COUNTRY WORKING ON TROOPER...

A Plattsburgh man is charged with two counts of rape -- and the nature of the charges, and the fact that he works as a state trooper, has investigators across the North Country involved in the case.
