Leonard Robinson pleaded guilty yesterday to 54 counts of sexual battery along with two counts of gross sexual imposition. Prosecutors say he had sexual contact with three teenage girls starting in 2002. Robinson's attorney said that while he disputed some of the charges, Robinson did not want to force the victims to testify at his trial, which was supposed to start Monday. Robertson served as the Medina police chaplain for six months before being fired in November. He was previously a minister at the Medina Alliance Fellowship, authorities said. Medina is about 30 miles south of Cleveland.
