Regarding Mike Fisher's time to be served. I believe the Judge stated that current California law requires that he serve 85% of his sentence, regardless of behaviour. 85% would be more the 18 months. It would be more than 2 years. Not 100% on this information. Tomorrow, January 9, 2007, is the date we all have been waiting for, Mike enters the California State Prision system. He reports to LA court on Temple and will be taken from the court room into custody. It's open to the public so anyone wishing to witness the legal system in action can be at the Temple address in downtown LA at 8:30am. Make your way to the right court room, if I get the details I'll do another posting. I know this is bitter sweet because Mike's sentence hardly seems adequate. Consider that Mike's life as he knew it is over. He prided himself in being a role model and police officer. An experience he can never, ever hold again. He prided himself in how many people he knew in Southern California growing up here. Now all those people he bragged about knowing see him as a real weak, feable minded person. He used to think himself so smart. He is such a simpleton, and really always has been. He just good a faking it. For the rest of his life he'll have to register as a sex offender. For those of you who are dedicated to following his life, you'll be able to track him for the rest of his life and report him each time he moves and doesn't register in the allotted time. Also, prison, even if he only serves the 85% or so, it no walk in the park. California prisons are over crowded. He'll share a cell with several inmates and be in open yard. Just picture him there. He always too cold or too hot. Always hungry, always lonely, always scared. Humiliated by his reality. Because the truth, thanks to the wisdom, bravery and courage of his victims, is out. So, I know it is no comfort to think about 2 years or less in prison being his punishment is so much more than just time in prison.

Judgement day is tomorrow at 8:am 3rd floor Div:47

Support from the Heights, very well put. I would like to use some of your wording for tomorrow. I am asking the district attorney to request from the judge that I get permission to let this scum bag know how the kids and the the families feel, but I have to do it on a professional level, which he does not deserve, but he needs to know what he missed from his training as a peace officer, which are two words. To serve and protect. I have a lot of respect for our police officers, and it's ashamed that one or two assholes like SCUM BAG Fisher tarnish the batch, there are so many of them trying to do their job with dignity. I will be heard tomorrow, so help me God.

If anyone know of someone putting together a care package for Mr. Fisher when he enters prison please let me know. I'd like to donate a case of vaseline and a laminated toe tag.

Ex-officer gets 3 years for child molestation
LOS ANGELES -- Former Alhambra police Sgt. Michael James Fisher was sentenced today to three years in state prison after pleading guilty to five counts of child molestation.

Fisher, 42, pleaded guilty in late November to molesting two teenage boys. In addition to the prison term, Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Luis Lavin ordered Fisher to register as a sex offender.

"You have no more power over anything in my life," one of his victims, now 18, said in court. "You are now powerless, hopeless, alone, a disgrace. But most of all, you are guilty."

Fisher was arrested in August and charged with 10 counts of child molestation. The 20-year veteran of the Alhambra Police Department is a well-known figure locally who grew up in the city and has worked on school campuses and at community events. After sentencing, Fisher was handcuffed and led out of the courtroom to be transported to state prison

Former Alhambra police Sgt. Michael James Fisher was sentenced Tuesday to three years in state prison for molesting two teenage boys.

While the victims and family members said they felt some relief, they also expressed disappointment with the sentence against Fisher, 42, a well-known Alhambra Police Department veteran who was arrested in August and pleaded guilty to child molestation in November.

"Today is a victorious day," said one victim's mother, who requested anonymity. But "to get three years, maybe one-and-a-half on good behavior, is nothing."

Fisher was charged with 10 counts of child molestation and pleaded guilty to five as part of a plea bargain.

Prosecutors say the former Covina resident molested one of the victims over an eight-month period in 2003 and the other in 2005 and 2006. They were between the ages of 14 and 18 when the crimes occurred.
