Former Springfield police officer Kevin Barrington arrested again

A former Springfield cop, indicted on sexual abuse charges, is back in jail facing more charges.

Kevin Barrington faces an additional three counts of violating an order of protection. The order of protection bans him from being within 500 feet of his house and another on that street.

Police arrested Barrington shortly after he bonded out of jail Friday. He remains in jail on $5,000 bond. Now, if Barrington bonds out, he will have to wear a GPS ankle bracelet. Last week, a grand jury handed down a 13-count indictment alleging he sexually abused family members over 15 years.
