STEPHENS COUNTY, Oklahoma - A former Stephens County deputy, charged with sexually assaulting four women, is set to go to trial in Duncan Monday.

Brandon Balthrop allegedly molested four women between the ages of 16 and 37 from 2007 to 2010 while he was a deputy sheriff.

Jury selection begins Monday in his trial. If convicted Balthrop could be facing life in prison.

Let's see once again shows how dirty Stephens County can be ! These poor girls need justice and hope in April it comes this man needs to be locked away ! He never should have been hired at the department he was a sexual predictor before the Sheriff hired him !! Check now these poor young woman have to suffer. I know the feeling how when certain people do evil things they try to cover it up and it goes right up to the DAs office even so far as to fire an *. DA who actually was doing his job and protecting me. But because of who this persons daddy is it was not coming out lick and dirty but it will be ! These girls need prayers and they need support!! Stay strong and fight back don't let this loser make you victims for life !! My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family's .

SomeoneBelieves: Well, oyu are correct about the Grand Jury. Apaprently the DA believes hsi evidence is strong enough that he did not need to present it. (Grand juries listen to evidence and decide if someone should be charged with a crime.) That could be interperittted either way: strong factual case, or what I believe is your position, a weak case that would not have made it through a Grand Jury. The rest of my post stands as is. I pray he is innocent, but if he is guilty I pray he is severely punished. I don't have an iron in this fire other then to see justice served.
