FRANKLIN — — An Isle of Wight Sheriff's Deputy will spend four months in jail after pleading no contest to six charges of sexual abuse of a minor.

Ronald Carwile, 49, of Franklin took the plea bargain Tuesday in Southampton County Circuit Court. He was charged in March 2010 with two counts of sexual abuse of a child under 15 years of age and four counts of sexual abuse of a child under 15 years of age, third or subsequent offense — all misdemeanors.

Carwile will also serve 10 years probation and is prohibited from working in law enforcement.

For his safety, Carwile will not serve his jail term at Western Tidewater Regional Jail in Suffolk due to his previous law enforcement work, Franklin police said.

The offenses occurred between September 2009 and January 2010 at Carwile's Franklin home, said a spokesman for the Franklin Police Department.

Franklin police began investigating the claims of alleged sex acts with a teenage girl in January 2010.

Carwile, an investigator with the Isle of Wight Sheriff's Office since 2004, was assigned to administrative duties in December 2010.
