JaTaryia Thomas couldn't hold back the emotion after hearing a Valdosta police officer was arrested and charged with aggravated child molestation.

"I have three kids, two daughters and just to hear that a police officer is even involved or even talking to a child on that level, let alone child molestation pisses you off. These are the people your supposed to call when something is wrong. They're supposed to protect you," said Thomas.

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation says 44-year-old Otto Pena was taken into custody just before four o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Authorities say they interviewed the juvenile who told them the molestation went on for several years.

"It's pretty painful to us," said Valdosta Police Captain Bobbi McGraw.

Police say the information isn't easy for them to digest either. Pena has been an officer in Valdosta since September 2006.

"We'll see what the outcome of the investigation is," said McGraw.

As of now Pena is being held at the Lowndes County Jail.

Pena is also on administrative leave.

GBI officials says they just finished collecting all the evidence Friday, but say there are still a few more witnesses that need to be interviewed before handing the case over to the District Attorney.

[Update] 5-6 11:10 AM

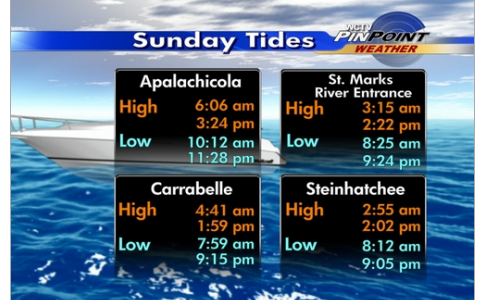

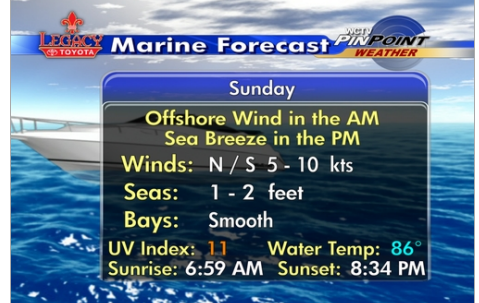

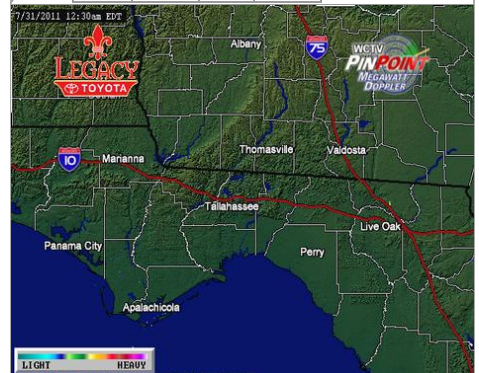

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation has told Eyewitness News that they were requested to investigate accusations of an officer molesting a juvenile. GBI says they spoke to the juvenile and the officer yesterday. Shortly after the interview, Otto Pena, 44, was arrested at the Lowndes County Sheriff's Office at 3:50pm.

GBI say the juvenile informed them that the molestation was going on for several years.
