

Ex-Va. Officer Sentenced for Indecent Liberties

whsv.com

2011 arrested 2012 sentenced

A former Richmond police officer convicted of indecent liberties with a minor will spend a month in jail.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) -- A former Richmond police officer convicted of indecent liberties with a minor will spend a month in jail.

Media outlets say 42-year-old Ronald E. Oaks Jr. pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge Wednesday. A Henrico County Circuit Court judge sentenced Oaks to 12 months in jail with all but one month suspended.

He won't be required to register as a sex offender.

Oaks was accused of persuading a 15-year-old girl to show him nude photos of herself on her cell phone. He was arrested last November.