Fmr. Oldham Co. officer sentenced in official misconduct cases

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (WHAS11) -- A former Oldham County police officer accused of sending inappropriate messages to an underage girl has been sentenced to nine months in jail and a $500 fine.

Harry 'Shane' Mosley, 36, was arrested and accused of official misconduct after texting sexually explicit messages to a teenager he had met during a traffic stop in Goshen. The traffic stop occurred in October of 2012.

Mosley was found guilty on charges of official misconduct involving the traffic stop after his October 2014 trial. A jury recommended he be sentenced to nine months in jail and a $500 fine, which the judge delivered. Mosley is to report to jail on December 15.

Trial set for police officer accused of sending inappropriate messages

Mosley resigned from the police force following his arrest.

In addition to this case, Mosley was charged with a separate incident involving misconduct and tampering with public records after he didn't charge a US Marshal with a DUI, even though the Oldham County prosecutors said the Marshal's breathalyzer test result was more than the legal limit.

He entered an Alford plea and was sentenced to pay a $500 fine for the US Marshal DUI case.
