A deputy town marshal in Lawrence County turned himself in to police after an investigation for child molestation.

Bill Allen surrendered Monday at the Lawrence County Correction Center. He was the subject of a month-long investigation by the Indiana State Police and the Lawrence County Department of Child Services.

Allen, a deputy town marshal in Oolitic who ran for Lawrence County Sheriff earlier this year, was arrested for two "A" felony counts of child molesting and a "C" felony count of child molesting. He is being held on a $200,000 bond.

Details of the investigation have not yet been released.
