GREECE, N.Y. -- A former Greece police officer was sentenced Monday for possession of child pornography.

Prosecutors say John Casey, 47, was sentenced to 4 years in prison and 10 years supervised release. Casey will also have to register as a sexual offender.

Investigators say in March 2014, Casey was sharing images of child pornography online. At that time, officers were able to download several sexually explicit images of children being raped from Casey's computer.

Investigators say the time of the online activities determined that the images were never downloaded when Casey was at work.
