

Former officer accused of downloading child porn bonds out of...

Posted: 8:14 a.m. Friday, April 18, 2014

wftv.com

Saturday, April 19, 2014 | 6:44 p.m.

A former Volusia County corrections officer arrested on charges of child pornography bonded out of jail late Thursday night.

A judge ordered Mark Pronovost, 32, to stay in his home with a GPS monitor.

Florida Department of Law Enforcement agents arrested him after a standoff in Orange City last month.

Pronovost resigned from the Volusia County Corrections Department.

Previous Story: Corrections officer accused of downloading child porn holds young child hostage