FAIRVIEW — A Fairview police officer has been charged with five felony counts of possession of child pornography and one felony count for violating the Computer Crimes Act for storing child pornography on a computer.

William Nathaniel “Nate” Meyer was placed on administrative leave Friday after Charles Gadd, Fairview's acting police chief, received allegations from a juvenile male that Meyer was communicating with the boy's girlfriend in a sexually explicit manner via text message, according to an affidavit.

Major County Attorney General Chris Boring filed the charges against Meyer on Wednesday.

According to the affidavit, a search warrant was served Monday for Meyer's residence. At the time of the warrant, Meyer and his wife declined to be interviewed.

While searching the home, Dewey County Sheriff L. Clay Sander found more than 50 child sexual abuse images on a custom-built computer tower that contained seven individual hard drives, according to the affidavit.

The affidavit detailed five images and videos found on the computer, including a video of two prepubescent children touching each other while nude and engaging in intercourse.

After conducting the search, the Meyers were advised of their rights and were placed under arrest. At that time, according to the affidavit, Nate Meyer voluntarily stated he took responsibility and it was “all my fault.”

Bond was set at $50,000 for Nate Meyer. He bonded out shortly after, according to Major County Sheriff's Department.

Gadd said as soon as his office became aware of the allegation, he immediately turned the investigation over to the District Attorney's Office.

“We felt it was going to be better handled by an outside agency,” Gadd said. “I can say that there was an allegation of misconduct and it was turned over to the DA.”

Boring said no charges have been filed against Meyer's wife at this time. She has filed for a divorce, according to court documents. The two married in 2012.

Nate Meyer is a Cimarron High School graduate and was a member of Oklahoma National Guard's 45th Infantry Combat Brigade, according to his marriage announcement from 2012.

An arraignment hearing is set for 2:30 p.m. Friday in Major County.
