A former Kaufman police officer was arrested Tuesday on charges of indecency and sexual assault of a child.

Daniel Carrier, who has also worked as a school resource officer for Kaufman ISD, was indicted by a grand jury on the charges, Kaufman County Sheriff's Department Capt. Fred Klingelberger said.

Carrier turned himself in Tuesday and bonded out the same day.

The incident occurred about seven years ago, when Carrier was still serving with the Kaufman police department, Klingelberger said. The victim was not a Kaufman ISD student.

Carrier left the Kaufman Police Department in 2014, according to WFAA-TV (Channel 8).
