A cop in the NYPD's mounted unit had phone sex with a 16-year-old Long Island girl and sent her video of himself masturbating, according to Suffolk County police.

David P. Stagliano, 38, of Ronkonkoma — who back in June used his steed to help chase down a robbery suspect in Midtown — was busted Friday and suspended from the NYPD, officials said Tuesday.

He sent the girl the lewd 21-second cellphone video just after 8:40 p.m., according to a criminal complaint.

Then, he followed up with a call, groaning and grunting into the phone, and "inducing her to engage in sexual conduct," the complaint said.

He's charged with disseminating indecent material to a minor and endangering the welfare of a minor.

Stagliano describes himself as a married veteran on his Facebook profile.

On June 20, Stagliano was patrolling on Sixth Ave. near W. 47th St. atop his mount, Pugsley, when a passerby flagged him and another officer down to let them know about a fight near the Rockefeller train station.

There, they found a bruised woman who said a man punched her in the face and took her purse. The other officer chased down the suspect, with an assist from Stagliano, cops said.

Neither Stagliano nor his lawyer returned calls seeking comment Tuesday.
