

Sex Trafficking, Domestic Violence, Child Sexual Exploitation and Rape Aren't they all bad? Why is one treated so differently?

In this age of “Sex trafficking” hysteria, illogical and very harmful laws are being passed to deal with the violence experienced by sex workers. There is also concern for the alleged “hundreds of thousands of child sex trafficking victims,” despite the lack of evidence and the impossibility of the numbers that are cited. Considering the far more common acts of rape and domestic violence that wives and girlfriends experience and the far more numerous victims of child sexual abuse at the hands of someone the child knows and trusts- children who are NOT being trafficked- it is curious that so much time and scarce resources are spent pursuing consenting adults who buy or sell sex.
Let's examine these issues with the FBI's own statistics...

Except where noted, the statistics on these pages are from the FBI Bureau of Justice Statistics tables # 5 and 69, and the annual Criminal Victimization Report. The sex trafficking statistics are from the FBI Table 1 on Human Trafficking.

Prostitution abolitionists say “Even one child is too many” to justify the crusade against all consenting adult commercial sex. While any sexually abuse child is too many- not one single child is helped by pursuing and arresting consenting adults who engage in commercial sex.

Not one child who is the victim of a pedophile priest, preacher, rabbi, teacher, neighbor, parent, police officer, baby sitter- those predators who commit 96% of all child sexual exploitation (see image page 3) - is helped by pursuing and arresting consenting adult sex workers or their non violent, non abusive clients, associates or employers against whom no criminal complaint has been filed.

As these thousands of reported crimes and arrest statistics show, not one victim of sex trafficking, rape or domestic violence is helped by squandering scarce and valuable resources that could be used to help ALL victims.

FBI posts the annual statistics on their website by year and anyone can search for the statistics cited in this document (links to FBI tables can be found in the “Operation Do the Math’ 2017 “policeprostitutionandpolitics.com” website) To show the general pattern of reported cases of rape and sexual assault, domestic violence and sex trafficking, the chart/graph above includes four years worth. The FBI did not start posting Human Trafficking statistics until 2014. However, the police have been arresting minors (including children under 10) for prostitution offenses for many years. The number of child arrests for prostitution are very few compared to the number of adults- primarily females, and constitute on average 1.80% of all arrests for prostitution as shown in the table below from 1991 to 2017. If there were “between 100,000 and 300,000 children being trafficked into prostitution every year” why can't they be found? Hundreds of millions of dollars are spent looking for those victims every year.

RAPE AND SEXUAL ASSAULT

Meanwhile, during that same period, there were 7,400,346 reported violent rapes and sexual assaults, for which law enforcement agents managed to solve on average 9.6%, leaving 6,689,226 cases unsolved. Perhaps some of these cases were false claims or the victims retracted their complaint. There is no explanation for why these cases were not solved.

Why results provide law enforcement officers pursuing consenting adults engaged in consensual sex and soliciting illegal substances that are most operation of the in the same way that solved discipline. These have been arrested and arrested. This fact. Even if you have a criminal record to prostitution and soliciting, the resulting concepts are generated by facilities with the price of enforcing your moral values? Or if it is not to allow law enforcement officers to engage in crimes for which they are charged, what leads to loss of credibility, and respect for the criminal conduct? How much police conduct is acceptable to ensure protection? Or social values are affected?

As support these rape victims whose rapists were never arrested because there were not enough resources for cops to search for them, the victim is left alone after the victim under report the procedure to obtain DNA evidence, and control resources to prosecute the perpetrators if they had been arrested, and were in the successful process any way- find comfort in knowing how many consenting adult sex workers and their non violent, non abusive clients were arrested their rapists. Now, over on the millions of people who have been arrested for prostitution of drugs? People who did not report being victims of any crime? Resources which have been used to solve the 6,313,408 rapes; many of which were no doubt committed by serial rapists?

Nevertheless, how many victims of violent rape and sexual assault went without justice because the police wasted time and resources on “sting operations” that netted only consenting adults?

Of the 1,996,893 arrests for prostitution during those years, how many of the sex workers had their lives destroyed because of an arrest record and became unemployable elsewhere because of an arrest and or conviction for prostitution? Or lost their children because of their arrest?

Of the unsolved 6,689,226 reported violent rapes and sexual assaults, how many victims had their lives ruined and suffer trauma and distress because their rapist is still at large?

In 2015, he chased her down the street and in front of other officers and his daughter, continued to shoot her until he was certain she was dead. The officers did nothing to stop him after the off-duty sergeant bolted from his Honda Pilot and squeezed off several rounds before pointing the gun at his own head. He did not kill himself, and after he surrendered his gun, his colleagues sympathetically hugged him. Previous episodes of violence led to a court appearance, where a judge ordered Phillip Seidle to attend anger management counseling. He was not arrested. He was not punished. “The Monmouth County Prosecutor’s Office investigation revealed 21 police calls for service since 1994 by the couple – seven of those calls were related to custody issues and seven were classified as domestic violence related calls. No charges or restraining orders were ever filed.” Asburyparksun.com/ Jun 30, 2016

More recently, there is the case of another law enforcement officer murdering his wife: “Newark Police Lt. John Formisano was wearing his police uniform when he followed and shot his fleeing wife to death in the middle of their quiet neighborhood, according to a 911 caller...”

is violence against women, that sex workers are often victims of violence at the hands of their “johns” and “pimps.” Apparently they are unaware that “work place violence” is a fact of life for many types of work, none of which leads prostitution abolitionists to advocate for the prohibition of other types of labor to protect those potential victims. What abolitionists also fail to acknowledge is that sex workers are more likely to be victims of the law enforcement agents entrusted with “rescuing” (arresting) them.

Whether it is being raped, extorted or murdered by a law enforcement agent, because sex workers are outside the law, we have little to no recourse. Occasionally the misconduct of the vice cops becomes so egregious and victims so numerous that our voices are finally heard. None of the abuse that sex workers experience at the hands of law enforcement would be possible if we weren’t outside the law.

Border agent said he killed sex workers to “clean up the streets,” prosecutor says

Sadly these are not isolated cases. Some studies claim that the rate of domestic violence is higher in law enforcement families than in the general population. Yet no one would suggest that we disallow law enforcement agents from marrying or having any type of personal relationship to prevent domestic violence perpetrated by cops.

VIOLENCE AGAINST SEX WORKERS

Those who oppose the decriminalization of consenting adult commercial sex often claim that prostitution itself is violence against women, that sex workers are often victims of violence at the hands of their “johns” and “pimps.” Apparently they are unaware that “work place violence” is a fact of life for many types of work, none of which leads prostitution abolitionists to advocate for the prohibition of other types of labor to protect those potential victims. What abolitionists also fail to acknowledge is that sex workers are more likely to be victims of the law enforcement agents entrusted with “rescuing” (arresting) them.

Would violence still occur if consenting adult commercial sex was no longer a crime? Unfortunately, violence can occur in any and all human relationships, but the violence that so concerns the abolitionists is a direct result of being outside the law and unable to report crimes against us without fear of being arrested. Imagine arresting a wife or girlfriend who reported being a victim of domestic violence, or arresting a victim of rape instead of the rapist? How many victims would report the crimes?

BACK TO THE SEX TRAFFICKING ISSUE

FBI re-evaluates human trafficking sting operation

Andrew Keiper • July 26

FOX News July 26, 2019

The annual FBI “Operation Cross Country” search for victims of child sex trafficking began in 2007. According to the FOX news article noted above, during that time “fewer than 1,000 juvenile victims have been rescued and recovered.” Thousands and thousands of man hours and millions of dollars were spent to find those victims.

The number of traffickers arrested far out numbered the victims, leading one to question whether or not the poor sex traffickers had to “time share” the victims? Would it be profitable for a “sex trafficker” to have to share a victim with another trafficker?

If there were as many sex trafficking victims as is claimed by the government and the prostitution abolitionists, why can’t they be found? Certainly if they are being trafficked, the men who hire them can find them.

There are undoubtedly more victims in addition to the fewer than 1,000 who were rescued, but one cannot extrapolate from the annual numbers of either the

H.6 Ages of First Intercourse and Entry Into Juvenile Prostitution

Average age of first intercourse for the children we interviewed was 12 years for the boys (N=63) and 13 years for the girls (N=107). The age range of entry into prostitution for the boys, including gay and transgender boys, was somewhat younger than that of the girls, i.e., 11-13 years vs. 12-14 years, respectively. The average age of first intercourse among minority boys and girls was younger than that of the non-minority youth we interviewed, i.e., 10-11 years of age for minority boys and 11-12 years of age for minority girls. These patterns are consistent with race-adjusted average ages for first intercourse (Abma et al., 1997; CDC, 2000; Ku et al., 1993; Zabin et al., 1986) and for entry into prostitution reported by other investigators (Boyer, 1993; Lowman, 1992; Nadon, 1998; Silbert, 1984).

Why is there no concern for the 96% of child sexual assaults committed by persons known to the child?

I. Profiles of Child Sexual Exploiters

From our interviews with children and focus group meetings with law enforcement and human service professionals we have been able to identify a number of groups of persons who are closely associated with the SEC. While the membership of these groups consist primarily of men not all child sexual exploiters are men. Indeed, some sex crimes against children are committed by juveniles and women, especially sexual assaults against children in their own homes. The discussion that follows is divided into two parts: 1) the identification of sexual exploiters of children living in their own homes; and 2) the identification of sexual exploiters of runaway, throwaway and otherwise homeless children. A third category of sexual exploiters of children, those more closely associated with the on-line sexual victimization of children, also will be discussed.

I.1. Sexual Exploiters of Children Living in Their Own Homes

As reported above, some 105,000 substantiated or indicated cases of child sexual assault occur in the U.S. each year (NCCAN, 1996). The bulk of these assaults are perpetrated against children 12 years of age or younger and nearly all (84%) occur in the privacy of the child's own home. Sadly, 96% of all child sexual assaults are perpetrated by persons known either to the child or the child's family-- 96% by acquaintances (e.g., neighbors, teachers, coaches, physicians), or by members of the child's own family (e.g., fathers, step-fathers, uncles, older siblings). Contrary to widely held belief, only a small number of substantiated child sexual assault are committed by strangers (DoJ, 2000b:29).

The NIBRS data summarized in Exhibit 3.14 reflect child sexual assault patterns for a sample of 1,000 "typical" cases for each of the three age groups. The patterns reported in the exhibit are comparable to those we observed in our own field work:

1. most sexual assaults against children in their own homes are committed by acquaintances, i.e., by friends of the family, neighbors, sport coaches, tutors (49%); the risk of sexual assault to children by acquaintances is high for all age groups but peaks as children enter puberty, i.e., 474/1000 incidents for children age 6

2. family members--father, step-fathers, uncles, older siblings--commit 47% of all reported sexual assaults against children in their own homes; the risk of sexual assault to children by family members is highest when children are younger than 11 years of age (441/1000 incidents), but especially when children are younger than 6 years (498 /1000 incidents);

3. strangers commit fewer than 4% of all sexual assaults against children; though never at a high level vis-à-vis the number of sexual assaults committed against children by acquaintances and family members, the risk of child sexual assaults by strangers increases with child age from 29/1000 incidents for children ages 6 and younger, to 47/1000 incidents for children ages 7-11, to 71/1000 incidents for children 12-17 years.

"rescues" or arrests of minors and come up with the alleged "200,000 to 300,000 children being trafficked into prostitution"- EVERY YEAR! It is further claimed that the lifespan of these children is 7 years after becoming a child prostitute. The average age of a new child prostitute is alleged to be 13, which would mean that every year (until they die 7 years later) there would be an additional 200,000 to 300,000 children

Child Exploitation: $10.8 million and 20 positions (4 agents) to enhance child exploitation investigations and prevent child predator advances before they begin. Studies estimate between 200,000 and 300,000 children are being forced into prostitution at any given time in the United States. The average age of a new child prostitute is 13, and the life expectancy after becoming a child prostitute is 7 years. The resources in this request will support the FBI's Innocence Lost field investigations, Child Sex Tourism investigations, and Innocent Images Initiatives. FY 2011 current services for this threat are 811 positions (82 agents) and $322.3 million.

being trafficked. Yet the local cops and the FBI and all their resources cannot find more than the 922 noted for "Operation Cross Country" from 2007 to 2017 and the 72 confirmed cases of minors rescued in the annual FBI stats from 2014 to 2017?

Sex worker rights activists do not claim that there are no cases of child sexual trafficking or child sexual abuse. We know they are occurring. We would love to see an end to all sex trafficking and would love to help law enforcement find and apprehend those who trafficking children or adults.

However, the child sex trafficking cases are undeniably far fewer than the cases of child sexual abuse. Where do the majority of child sexual abuse cases occur?

According to the "2001 Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children in the US, Canada and Mexico" report, "96% of all child sexual assaults are perpetrated by persons known to either the child or the child's family... Contrary to widely held belief, only a small number of substantiated child sexual assaults are committed by strangers" (which would include sex trafficking). "Strangers commit fewer than 4% of all sexual assaults against children."

The report continues with examples of those most likely to be the predators of children whom they child knows and trusts: neighbors, teachers, coaches, physicians, members of the child's own family such as fathers, step fathers, uncles, older siblings.

A great number of children have been sexually assaulted by baby sitters, members of the clergy including priests, preachers and rabbis, boy scout leaders, law enforcement agents and many other adults whom the child knows and trusts. Many of these acts of sexual assault are perpetrated against children under 10, yet there is no governmental outcry against these predators and no rescue efforts to stop this sexual assault. The FBI does not conduct sting operations to rescue the victims and catch the predators within Catholic/ Christian Churches or schools, or within the Boy Scouts of America, or even within law enforcement where numerous predators can be found. When such predators are caught- usually only because the victims file lawsuits against the predators- and if the predator is arrested and charged with a crime, the punishment, if any, is significantly less that what is prescribed for alleged 'sex traffickers' even in cases where the alleged sex trafficking victim has not asked for help and/or is charged with trafficking herself.

There are no sting operations to stop the crime of domestic violence in which cops go door to door to look for suspected victims or perpetrators. Police agencies do not send out female cops to set up "dates" with men to see if they might be rapists. Instead, all other victims of all other crimes (except homicide) are required to file a criminal complaint before cops will investigate- IF they investigate at all. Are the crimes of rape, sexual assault, domestic violence and child sexual exploitation so much less important to society and law enforcement that the priority for spending scarce and valuable resources is the arrest and prosecution of consenting adults who have NOT asked for help or have not been accused of harming anyone? Do we not want to "end the demand" for the above crimes, and if the proposed solution to "ending the demand" for sex trafficking is viable, why would we not apply that solution to the far more numerous crimes of rape, sexual assault, domestic violence and child sexual exploitation?

Boy Scouts failed to stop hundreds of previously unreported sexual predators, a lawsuit alleges

August 6, 2019, Washington Post

"Even one child is too many...."

so how many children raped by pedophile cops will it take to make politicians, philanthropists and celebrities care about these victims?

Rogues Gallery- the Worst of the Worst-

Section I: COPS WHO SEXUALLY EXPLOIT CHILDREN- INCLUDING VERY YOUNG CHILDREN

"Even one child is too many...." says Ashton Kutcher, in demanding that backpage.com shut down its' adult ads to 'protect the children...' Apparently the exception would be when the predator is a law enforcement officer...

NOTE: NONE OF THESE OFFICERS WERE SEEKING TO 'PURCHASE' THE SEXUAL SERVICES OF CHILDREN- INSTEAD THEY USED THEIR POSITION OF TRUST TO SEDUCE THEIR VICTIMS. What are we going to do to stop these predators from harming children? Shut down law enforcement?

When sex workers are told that it is important that we be "rescued" and our non violent clients be arrested because... WE are VICTIMS, what are we to think of the apathy shown by law enforcement agents when there ARE victims of child molestation and other sex crimes?

New Orleans Police Routinely Ignored Sex Crimes, Report Finds

By Campbell Robertson

November 12, 2014 NY Times

Nov. 12, 2014

A 3-year-old child showed up at the emergency room after an alleged sexual assault and was diagnosed with a sexually transmitted disease, yet a New Orleans police detective saw nothing to warrant a criminal investigation.

Another detective was assigned 11 simple rape cases over a three-year period, but she forwarded just one to the District Attorney's Office — possibly because, as she told others, she didn't think simple rape should be a crime.

What are child victims of predator law enforcement agents to think about the lack of concern for their well being when the majority of predator cops receive minimal sentences for crimes that other predators would garner perhaps decades behind bars?

L.A. County sheriff's detective gets 3 years in prison for assaulting girl in case he investigated

Neil Kimball LA County Sheriff

August 9, 2019, LA Times

What are adult sex workers and minors to think of the crusade against prostitution when so many officers - including chiefs of police- hire us, pimp us- run prostitution rings, rape us and kill us, many times without consequences? These crimes committed by law enforcement officers don't seem to matter to abolitionists. Cops are even allowed to have sex with us in order to make an arrest! Are these acceptable side effects of the "End the Demand" crusade?

Greentree PA Police Chief Andrew Lisiecki
"...got naked and let a prostitute perform a sexual act before making the arrest,

The chief allowed the woman to begin performing a sex act on him. At some point after that, he informed her that she was under arrest."

BECAUSE GETTING A BLOW JOB AT TAXPAYER EXPENSE IS THE BEST WAY TO PROTECT PROSTITUTES FROM EXPLOITATION... RIGHT?

"Bitch, I can do anything I f.cking want"
"I'm a man, I saw a prostitute, I wanted sex..."

said San Diego Sheriff's Deputy Thomas John Sadler

Raped and extorted prostitutes for nearly a decade. Finally charged with a crime. Sentenced to 2 years in prison... did not have to register as a sex offender.

PIMP Norman Wielsch

Also known as California State drug agent Norman Wielsch who, with other law enforcement officers, stole from prostitutes and ran a prostitution ring... Wielsch admitted in court to stealing the drugs from law enforcement evidence lockers before selling them for cash. He was sentenced to 14 years, but NOT for anything related to the prostitution ring he and other cops ran... the Feds didn't deem it important enough to prosecute them for pimping, pandering, extortion or theft... 2012

Chatham NJ

Police CHIEF Thomas Ramsey...

He had faced up to five years in prison and more than $15,000 in fines for promoting prostitution... Sentenced to probation 2005

PIMP Wayne Taylor

Also known as

pimped out 13-year-old girl and forced her to dance naked at parties and have sex with "as many as eight or nine men" in a single night. The girl says Det. Wayne Taylor "bought" her for $500 and threatened to arrest her for prostitution if she didn't follow his orders. Served just over 3 years in prison - 2010

PIMP Titus Taggart

Also known as

NY State Trooper Titus Taggart

Admitted to organizing parties with prostitutes while off-duty was sentenced to three years probation and 300 hours of community service... he transported prostitutes over the border from Canada which is International sex trafficking. 2013
